

Social Media: Protecting your Staff

Frontline Victorian public sector employees can be exposed to online bullying and harassment by members of the public. The Victorian Government Solicitor's Office invites you to a discussion with lawyers from our Workplace Relations and Occupational Safety, Commercial Property and Technology and Litigation Branches, on managing and responding to the risks that social media may have for the health and safety of employees.

This seminar will explore:

- scenarios where an employee may be subject to online harassment by a member of the public;
- an employer's obligations to protect employees from harassment in cyber space;
- practical tips to assist employers to manage these situations; and
- legal remedies and avenues of redress which may be available.

Date: Tuesday 21 March 2017

Time: 12:30pm - 2.00pm
(lunch provided)

Venue: Treasury Theatre,
1 Macarthur Street, Melbourne

CPD: 1 CPD point, Substantive Law

Register: VGSO website News and Events
www.vgso.vic.gov.au

More information: marketing.team@vgso.vic.gov.au
03 9947 1462

Your speakers

Alice Felman
Principal Solicitor

Alice advises on all aspects of workplace relations law including equal opportunity, misconduct and performance management issues, termination of employment and industrial relations.

Leonie Heaton
Senior Solicitor

Leonie practices in commercial law, specialising in drafting, reviewing and negotiating complex Intellectual Property licences and commercial agreements, in addition to advising on a wide range of commercial transactions and legal issues.

Will Yates
Solicitor

Will practices in Litigation and Dispute Resolution, specialising in personal injury claims against the State of Victoria, defamation and coronial inquests.